Uncle Tom's Cabin to-morrow night.

—J. N. Hyde returned to Sprinfield this morning.

—Billie McBride returned to Cedar Rapids this morning.

—Rock Falls is now connected with the Sterling water works.

—Wilbur Crawford returned home last night from a week's jaunt through Ohio.

—Miss Ella Biddle departed for Cherokee, Iowa, where she goes to visit friends and relatives.

—Miss Mattie Hamilton has returned from Des Moines, Iowa, where she has been visiting friends.

—The Sterling Gazette complains again about the number of people that are leaving that city for California.

—If President Cleveland should die Secretary of State Bayard would become the President of the United States, under a recent law of succession.

—Hennessy & Rilley left to-day at our office some Michigan potatoes that weigh about a pound and a half each. They are a specimens of the crops raised there.

—M. M. Johnson is here from Nebraska. He intends to return in a few days and will probably spend the winter in the west although he intends to make Palmyra his future home.

Be sure and be on the street to-morrow, at noon, and see the grand parade, by Abbey's Double Mammoth Uncle Tom's Cabin Co. Two uniformed bands, white and colored; bloodhounds, shetland ponies, etc.

—The ladies of the Universalist church propose having a very pleasant and unique entertainment on Thursday evening the 27th instant at the church building. It is to consist of war songs and reminiscences of battles and campaigns by soldiers of the late war for the Union.

—Sterling Gazette: Comelins Curtain on his way home from Dixon last night in a wagon, (he having assisted in the removal of the effects of Rev. Mr. Sheets) when near to his house was thrown from his seat upon the ground. The shock caused a partial paralysis of the neck and he is to-day suffering greatly.

—Charles Nodle found a coal-bed on his farm, in South Dixon, the other day. The bed is not large; but it has not yet been developed. However, it is a coal-bed nevertheless. We have a specimen of the coal in our office, taken from the bed, and it is certainly the genuine black diamond. The coal was found only six or seven feet below the surface. What a neat thing it would be if a vein of coal large enough to work could be discovered near Dixon?

—City marshal Matthews arrested a couple of chaps for stealing a coat and hat from the gas house and they are now in the county jail awaiting trial. One when arrested said to the officers that they could not prove that he stole the hat, but as the rascal then had the stolen article on his head the marshal thought that the thief was over confident. The two thieves were tramping about the city selling (or pretending to sell) some sort of an acid for engraving names, and writing of any sort, upon copper. The probable object of their travel was, however, that of looking up a house to rob. People should refuse entrance to their houses of all peddlers or tramps of every sort.

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT.

One Man Killed and Another Severely Wounded.

At noon to-day there was a terrible accident at the John Prescott farm, near Woosung, in which George Atley was killed and Jacob Middlekauff seriously, and it is feared, perhaps fatally wounded. They were drilling a well on the Prescott farm and the drill become wedged into the rock; they put in a blast for the purpose of extricating the rod, and the cartridge exploded, it is supposed, prematurely with the above result. Middlekauff had both arms and one leg severely lacerated. He is a young man with a wife living in the Cuddington place, North Dixon, and he works for Chas. Rosbrook. He will be remembered by our people who have seen him riding a bycicle to and from his home and business. He went to Woosung his morning to help Atley who resides there. He is a young man much respected and his misfortune will be lamented.

Since placing the above in type we learn further particulars: Atley and Middlekauff had placed a cartridge in a gas pipe and run it down into the well but the cartridge did not then explode. They drew up the pipe, and were at work removing the cartridge when it exploded with the above result. It is now thought that Middlekauff's wounds are not so very dangerous as was at first feared.

—In its base ball column the New York Sun devotes considerable space to some interesting notes regarding Hugh Nicol. Nicol, it says, the little right fielder of the Cincinnatis, is the king of base stealers, with Ward of the New Yorks a close second. There is not much of him for he isn't bigger than a bar of soap after a hard days washing, and he takes himself around the bases with a rush. He says, "If they will only let me get on first I will chance it on the balance." In the field he is one of the surest. Easy catches are his fear and difficult ones his delight. A well-meaning friend said to him a few days ago: "Nicol, you'll break your neck some of these times." "No fear of that. My early life trained me for that." It came out then in the conversation which followed that he had been an acrobat from childhood up. At the age of eight he made his appearance in a circus as one of the Nicol brothers, five in number, and their wonderful feats made them one of the best drawing cards in the sawdust ring. As he grew stronger he added to his specialties and became a rider, stilt walker, leaper, double somersault thrower and tight-rope walker. His favorite feats were leaping through the dagger-lined rings and the harlequin dives through six fire baloons. This is why it is a matter of difference to him how he makes the base slide, for his acrobatic training saves him from injury. Asked his method in stealing bases, he said: "I play as far off of first base as to make it nip and tuck which will get back first, me or the ball. Then I set my left spikes and get a spring in that foot. At the first and faintest motion to pitch I fire myself away from that left foot and make a gain of five feet anyhow, and then it's a spring for second. Most players begin to slide too soon. You don't want to slide until within about eight feet of the base, for you're losing speed when on the ground. Always, just the instant before making the dip, I look to see how the ball is coming. If it's coming high I take the bellybuster in front of the baseman, for nine out of ten of them swing back with the ball, and I ain't there. That fools them. If it's coming low I go behind them and twist out with my right toe and left knee. If it's going to be a pretty close thing and the ground is good and dry, I've got all my legs and arms to kick up a dust, so the umpire can't see how the thing is and my story is as good as the second baseman's when the clouds clear away, don't you see?"

Nicol is always in good trim, for in winter he is usually engaged as trainer in some one of the many gymnasiums in the west. While in the city recently he had an offer from Gallipolis, Ohio, and will probably accept it.

FOUR BEAR STORIES.

A bear weighing 500 pounds was killed on Flint river, near Albany, Ga., by the citizens, who never saw a bear in that neighborhood before.

Daniel O'Connell, of Stamford, Vt., was attacked by a bear near North Adams, Mass., and was being badly worsted when his dog interfered and he managed to escape. The dog has not been seen since.

A man was going over the Rocky mountains for pine logs, driving a wagon. On the top of a large log by the side of the road was a young bear, the mother having started up the mountain on the approach of the team. The cub not moving, the mother came bounding back to it, and giving it a nudge with her nose started up the mountain again, expecting the cub to follow. But the little one made no move. The old bear then came back the second time, and taking up the cub in her paws, gave him several cuffs. The cub then obeyed orders and followed the old bear in a gallop up the side of the mountain.

A passenger train on a Florida railroad stopped some fifteen miles from Cedar Key to prevent a collision with some cattle, when a black bear came trotting leisurely out of the woods, climbed upon the platform of a car, and entered the express room, where he found three strings of fish and some bacon, all of which went quickly into his maw. When the train started up the swaying of the car shut the door. The bear soon became tired of his ride, and looked about for means of egress. Nothing looked so vulnerable to attack as the windows in the side of the car, which were protected by iron rods about a half inch in diameter. He selected one of these, caught two or three of the iron rods with his paws, and, giving them a hug, broke and twisted them off clean. His body was then forced through the aperture and struck the ground like a rubber ball. He turned two or three somersaults and ambled off into the woods.

It is said that the Duke of Buccleugh, who is the richest man in Scotland, and has an income of $1,500,000 a year, is sometimes hard up for money. He has five establishments to keep up and so many poor relations, retainers, pensioners, etc., that this enormous amount of money quickly disappears.

Gen. Sherman has in his possession at his office in New York the original copy of the song "Sherman's March to the Sea." It is beautifully written on the most ordinary kind of note paper, the verses being separated by sketches, in pen and ink, of flags, stars and other national emblems.

SILKEN THREADS.

The mulberry tree was cultivated in China and known by the name of the golden tree 2,600 years before the Christian era.

In the life of the silk worm there are five periods or ages between the different moults, the first after the hatching and the last before spinning.

The three most marked and noted European varieties of cocoons are the Italian breed, producing small yellow cocoons; the French producing large white cocoons.

White silk is the most valuable in commerce, but the races producing yellow, cream colored or sulphur cocoons are generally considered to be the most vigorous.

Reeled silk is classified into organzine, tram and floss. Organzine is closely spun or twisted and is the best. Tram is made from inferior cocoons, and is more loosely spun and twisted. Floss is made of the loose silk carded and spun like cotton or wool.

Among silk worms the annuals are the strongest and hardiest, and are preferred in France, Italy and Europe generally, where they now use with great success what are known as the Pyrean, Cevennes, Var, Milanese and Roumelian (Adrianople) varieties.

THE RECENT KNIGHTLY CYCLONE IN THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

Powderly's Forces Badly Beaten on the New Deal, But a Vote of Confidence Passed to Take Defeat Less Painful—Vain Threats of the "Administration"—Everybody Satisfied and All Serene.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 18.—The Powderly forces were routed horse and foot in the general assembly of the Knights of Labor Monday afternoon, but in their flight they were intercepted by a contingent of the enemy waving an olive branch, and now they are bivouacing between the two camps. It was late in the afternoon when the question was called on the report of the committee on laws, reducing the membership of the executive board to two, and placing the appointing power in the hands of the general master workman. The vote was viva voce, and the volume of nays was so strong and resonant that the opponents of the administration did not dare to demand a call of the roll. Instead, they attempted a little piece of strategy by submitting a resolution calling for the resignations of the members of the general executive board, in the hope that those of Barry and Bailey would be accepted and the rest refused. The resolution was adopted by a vote of 112 to 64, and in a brief speech Mr. Powderly presented the resignations of himself, Carlton, Hayes, McGuire and Aylesford. Barry and Bailey, however, refused to fall into the trap. They had been elected, they said, for two years, and they did not propose to retire unless charges were preferred against them and their removol effected by constitutional neads.

The result was that the adherents of the administration had no alternative left but to vote against the acceptance of the resignations that they themselves had demanded. On this again there was no call of the roll. As a climax to the burlesque, a vote of confidence in the members of the board who had submitted their resignations was submitted and carried with about thirty delegates shouting, "No." The situation now is precisely where it was when the fight began. The opposition is turbulent and looks upon the result as a signal victory. On the other hand, most of the administratiom men say the vote of confidence in Powderly and his faction is all that can be desired, although there are some who insist that it will be impossible to work in harmony with the malcontents for another year, and that the peremptory resignation which Powderly prepared at midnight on Friday will certainly be forthcoming. After the convention had adjourned and supper had been disposed of the general master workman and his adherents on the board went into conference and at a late hour they were still inaccessible.

Over a score of delegates took part in the debate, and at times, barring actual violence, the assemby was a miniature edition of a Donnybrook fair. Bailey's speech created a sensation. He said the general officers had been charged with crimes that would shame the average criminal, and that the question before the assembly was: Are they true? The order was not established for political purposes, but a nest of political plots, carried out by the general officers, had been discovered that would challenge the admiration of the worst political heelers. He did not think these matters had been satisfactorily explained. Hayes was kept in his place because he was a wire-puller—a tool. Of whom? Might he not be useful to one of the great political parties?

He strongly denounced the action of General Master Workman Powderly in employing men to work for church interests without the knowledge and sanction of the other officers of the order and paying them out of the funds of the order. "There is a suspicion in my mind," said Mr. Bailey, with considerable heat, "that Powderly has allied himself with the Church of Rome, and this to the disorganization of the order." The scheme to reduce the number of members on the executive board was Powderly's, but he did not believe the convention would sanction it. As for himself, he was elected at Richmond for two years and proposed to serve his term out.

"This convention may pass this resolution if it will; I will not accept the terms if it is passed; neither will my friends. Gentlemen, I mean what I say. If this resolution is passed, Mr. Barry, our friends and myself will pick up our hats and walk out of this hall.

A delegate—Go ahead, Mr. Bailey. This organization can spare you. We can get along without you and your friends."

"I expected this," responded the speaker. "You voiced, my friend, the sentiments of Mr. Powderly and others that I couldn't mention when you said that. Let this business go on, gentlemen. We will see who will be the gainers in the end. I want to say, though, in this connection that I am making no idle threats."

Litchman then took the floor. He denied a number of charges made against the board, and made counter charges against the board's enemies, among them a charge that Donnelly, the stenographer, was a tool of the opposition and a spy on the board. The washing of dirty linen went on with great energy for hours.

Not satisfied with their defeat on the main question. The "administration" endeavored to bring about the success of their plans by other methods. A proposition was made to so change article 3 of the constitution as to confine the elective officers to the general master workman, general worthy foreman, general treasurer and secretary, general investigator and a co-operative board of six. This, with several amendments, was voted down. Then a motion was made to make the term of office one year instead of two as fixed at Richmond, which would have necessitated another election by the present assembly, but this also was voted down. A proposition to add a general investigator to the elective officers was, however, carried and a constitutional berth provided for Mrs. Lenora Barry, who has filled that position by appointment during the past year.

Toward the end of the session, somewhat in the nature of pouring oil on the troubled waters, the report of a joint committee of the knights and the Farmers' alliance, which has been considering plans by which the two organizations could work in harmony, was submitted. It recommended that, as the evils of which the farmers, mechanics, and laborers complained were the results of unjust laws, enacted in the interest of chartered corporations, the most feasible method of redress would be for each corporation to maintain at Washington a committee to work together for mutual interests. If both organizations, however, found it impossible to do this, then the one not so represented at the national capital should support the work of the other committee and use its best endeavors to induce its members to oppose the re-election of any legislator, state or national, who failed to vote for or support such measures as might receive the sanction of the executive heads of the two organizations. The report was adopted, and the assembly adjourned.

Shortly before midnight Monday it was given out officially that Mr. Powderly was satisfied with the action of the convention, and that he would continue at the helm for the remainder of his term of office. The leaders of the opposition are also said to be satisfied, and will not push their advantage. They say they are glad the matter will probably end without a split in the order, which would have been inevitable. It was hoped that a calm would succeed the storm.

PROTESTING PROGRESSIVES.

Meeting in New York to Denounce Police Interference With Free Speech.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—About 7,000 persons assembled in Union square Monday evening to protest against the action of the police in dispersing the meeting of the Progressive Labor party on the 8th inst. The meeting was called under the auspices of the Progressive Labor party, but many others not connected with that party were present. Two distinct organizations of the Henry George party, while passing on their way to the county convention, stopped in the square and gave three cheers for free speech. The police arrangements were such as not to excite the Socialists. The squad in attendance were kept in the rear of the cottage stand, so that they could not see the red flag which was waved triumphantly in front of the speaker's stand. Superintendent Murray was on hand and a force of several hundred men were held in reserve at different points around the square without being obtrusive.

Among the prominent Socialists on the platform were Editor Schevitch and wife, Col. Hilton and wife, Edward Goldsmith, George Block, Thaddeus B. Wakeman, William Penn Rogers and Hugo Vogt. Chairman Schevitch, in opening the meeting, said in reference to the action of the police at the previous meeting: "The clubbing was not a blunder. It was the outcome of a systematic policy by the scum which now controls American public life. They should remove Liberty's torch and substitute for it a policeman's locust, typical of those who wield the club with one hand and wring blood money from the prostitute with the other."

Col. Hinton then presented a series of resolutions, setting forth that the action of the police in clubbing men, women and children at the meeting on Oct. 8 was not the result of a blunder, but of an organized attempt to treasonably institute a reign of terror for the benefit of privileged classes. It was, therefore, resolved to pledge their means, energies and, if need be, their lives in defense of free speech.

Mrs. Hinton, Professor DeLeon and T. B. Wakeman also spoke, and the meeting quietly dispersed.

Railway Brakemen in Session.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Oct. 18.—The fourth international convention of the Brotherhood of Railroad Brakemen opened in this city Monday. About 300 delegates are here from every section of the United States and Canada, and were accorded a hearty welcome by the local labor unions. Mayor Bayless delivered the address of welcome at the opera house, and Grand Master C. Wilkinson, of Peoria, Ills., read his annual address. The address was a lengthy and eloquent appeal to the brotherhood to stand and work together, and brefly reviewed the progress of the order from its organization in a caboose at Oneonta, this state, four years ago, to the present membership of 10,000. On the subject of strikes he said: "We present all our grievances to the proper committees, and if they fail, we, in conjunction with them, endeavor to arrange matters by arbitration, but if that fails, we then strike or quit, as it pleases us. We believe this is a liberty that this nation teaches all of its children."

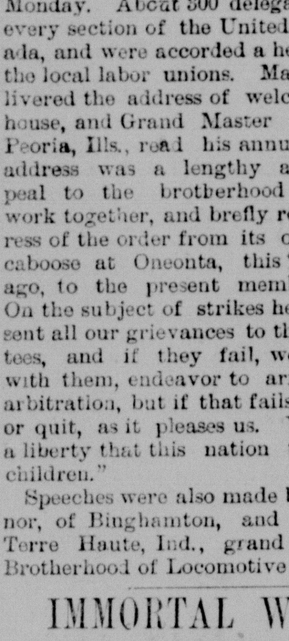

Speeches were also made by Edward O'Connor, of Binghamton, and E. V. Debbs, of Terre Haute, Ind., grand secretary of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

IMMORTAL WILLIAM.

UNVEILING OF CHILD'S MEMORIAL TO THE BARD OF AVON.

Letters From Lowell and Holmes and a Poem from the Latter—London Unemployed Feel the Policeman's Club—Sullivan and Saunderson on Irish Affairs—Miscellaneous European Notes.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—The beautiful memorial fountain erected at Stratford-on-Avon by Mr. George W. Childs in honor of the "Immortal Will Shakespeare" was unveiled Monday with very interesting ceremonies. The mayor of Stratford had suggested a partial suspension of business during the ceremonial, but the people took advantage of the occasion to make the day a general jubilee. A large number of visitors were present from London, Birmingham, Manchester, Leeds and other business centers. Among the distinguished guests were Minister Phelps, Sir Theodore Martin, Lord Roland Gower, Lord Delaware, Sir Cunliffe Owen, and the mayors of Worcester, Litchfield, Coventry, Warwick and Leamington.

THE FOUNTAIN.

In a letter James Russell Lowell wrote: "The monument which you accept to-day in behalf of your townsmen commemorates at once the most marvellous of Englishmen and the jubilee year of the august lady whose name is honored wherever the English tongue is spoken, whereof he was the greatest master. No symbol could more aptly serve this double purpose than a fountain, for surely no poet ever poured out so broad a river of speech as he, whether he was the author of 'Novum Organon' also, or not. Nor could the purity of her character and example be better typified than by the current that shall flow forever from the sources opened to-day."

John G. Whittier, in a congratulatory letter to Mr. Childs, said: "The gift you present was a happy thought, and will go far toward atoning for the foolish utterances about England coming from some American citizens."

The mayor, in his speech of acceptance, said: "Everybody must acknowledge that it is a handsome structure. Mr. Childs repeatedly wrote that no expense should be spared, as he wished to present a gift to Shakespeare's town worthy of his great name. This memorial proves the truth of the saying, 'Blood is thicker than water,' and proves also that Americans are proud of our common heritage."

Mr. Henry Irving then read the poem written by Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes for the occasion, which closes with the following verse:

Land of our Fathers, Ocean makes us two,
But heart to heart is true!
Proud is your towering daughter in the West,
Yet in her burning life-blood reign confest
Her mother's pulses beating in her breast.
This holy fount, whose rills from Heaven descend,
Its gracious drops shall lend—
Both foreheads bathed in that baptismal dew,
And love make one the old home and the new.

Mr. Irving read the poem with splendid effect, and then pronounced a eulogistic address, concluding with these words: "We can picture Shakspeare returning from his bourne to find upon the throne a queen ruling with gentler sway than the great sovereign he knew, yet whose reign has glories more beneficent than Elizabeth's. We can imagine his emotion at finding the England he loved so well expanded beyond the seas; at least, we can be happy in the thought that when he had mastered the lessons of the conflict which divided us from our kinsmen in America, he would be proud to see in Stratford the gift of a distinguished American—a memorial of our reunion under the shadow of his undying name."

The banquet which took place in the town hall in the evening was a brilliant affair. Sir Thomas Martin proposed the toast, "The immortal memory of Shakespeare" which was received in silence.

Lord Delaware proposed, "The president of the United States," responded to by Minister Phelps. The chairman then read a telegram expressing the queen's pleasure and gratification to hear of the dedication of Mr. Childs' handsome gift. Mr. Walter, of The London Times, proposed the health of Mr. Childs. Responded to by Mr. Macaulay.

CHARGED ON THE MOB.

A Deputation of Unemployed Workmen Raise a Row in London.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—A deputation of unemployed workmen went to the Mansion house Monday and demanded that they be supplied with work. The board of aldermen referred them to the work house. When the deputation reported the result of their mission to those who had sent them the mob became infuriated and marched toward the city. They were then surrounded by a force of police.

The mob proceeded without committing any overt act until the Strand was reached, when they turned upon the police and attacked them with stones. The police charged upon the crowd and scattered them, capturing a number of banners. The mob then returned to Trafalgar square, where several of the leaders made speeches, which had the effect of still further exciting the crowd.

The police again made a charge, and after some resistance succeeded in clearing the square. After a time the mob, which had now gained some reinforcements, attempted to enter the square, but after a general fight they were prevented from doing so by the police. Several policemen were injured. Nine arrests were made.

Sullivan Goes for Chamberlain.

DUBLIN, Oct. 18.—At the meeting of the Dublin corporation Monday, Lord Mayor Sullivan denounced Chamberlain for his attack upon the corporation in his recent speeches and characterized his action as part of a scheme to inflame the passions of the people. Chamberlain, he said, would have done better to have devoted his eloquence to the furtherance of his suit with a Tory countess, whose hand he was led to believe he would obtain as the price of his political apostasy.

Saunderson's Coercion Policy.

BELFAST, Oct. 18.—Maj. Saunderson delivered a speech here Monday night, in which he eulogized Mr. Chamberlain and his followers in the highest degree and scathingly denounced the Nationalists. The government, he said, would not be worth its salt unless it should send every Parnellite to a plank bed and a daily task at oakum picking in Kilmainham jail.

O'Connor Talks Out Too Much.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—Commoner O'Connor's bellicose speech in Jersey City has created a profound sensation here, and is generally regarded as having done a great deal of harm to the cause of home rule. Physical force in Ireland means one party in England, and that party resolutely opposed to anything short of rigorous measures of government in Dublin, compared with which the present coercion act is mildness itself. The Liberals and more temperate of national leaders both are exceedingly annoyed that Mr. O'Connor should have permitted himself to indulge in the language he is reported to have uttered.

Harrowing Tales of Chicago's Bastile.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—A large meeting of Socialists was held at Hackney Monday evening for the purpose of denouncing the sentence imposed upon the Chicago Anarchists, and resolutions to that effect were unanimously passed. A Socialist from Chicago was one of the prominent speakers, and harrowed the feelings of the audience with tales of the tortures his imprisoned comrades were subjected to at the hands of the authorities at the jail.

A Home in Manitoba.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—Mr. W. S. Caine, the Unionist whip in the house of commons, writes from Manitoba suggesting to the government that instead of proposing a land purchase bill it extend help to distressed Irish families to emigrate to Manitoba.

Dr. Mackenzie and Unser Fritz.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—Dr. Mackenzie, being interviewed Monday, said there was nothing to justify the alarming rumors concerning the health of crown prince of Prussia. Hss condition, the doctor says, is excellent and constantly improving.

Parnell Takes an Obscure Seat.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—Parnell occupied an obscure seat on the platform at a home rule meeting at Eastbourne Monday night, and his presence was almost wholly unknown.

ANOTHER BUDENSIEK AFFAIR.

Fall of a New but Shoddy Building—Five Men Killed.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—A four-story building in course of erection at 443 East One Hundred and Fifteenth street for a Roman Catholic school house tumbled in Monday afternoon about 4 o'clock, and some of the mechanics who were at work were buried in the ruins. At 6 o'clock p. m. five dead bodies had been taken out. Four men were also taken from the ruins seriously injured and almost suffocated. The supposition was that there were still fourteen men underneath the debris, but this was a mistake. A dozen were more or less severely injured. The names of the killed are: John Durkin, bricklayer; Henry Reinitz, blacksmith; Paroli Gilliberti, laborer, and Girolamo Launa.

The badly injured are Father Kierners, of the Church of Our Lady of Mount Carmel; Robert Young, Thomas Kiernan, Florica Daum, Edward Welch, Arthur Aronne, Frank Banner, Robert Levy, John S. Conway, and William Plummer. Ten others were in and about the building at the time of the collapse, but all have been accounted for, some slightly injured, with the exception of James McCarthy, a bricklayer; a boy named Brown, and Michael Lannon, whose friends had searched for six hours after the accident in vain. Father Kierners was standing on the scaffolding of the fourth floor talking to Foreman Lynch when the crash came. The priest was thrown to the forward part of the wreck, landing on his feet. He fell into a mass of ruins and was probably fatally injured. Conway was covered by debris, but extricated.

The wounded were taken to hospitals. Henry Reinitz, the blacksmith, was at work in his shop next door, which was crushed, and Reinitz was killed by his anvil. The boy Levy, who was having a horse shod, was covered with timbers and badly crushed. The buildings were evidently put up in violation of the building laws in regard to thickness of walls. It is still thought by some that several more bodies will be found in the wreck.

MIGHTY ROTTEN TESTIMONY

Seems To Be the Style in the Minnesota Prison Investigation.

STILLWATER, Minn., Oct. 18.—In the examination of ex Warden Reed, which was continued at Stillwater Monday, Mary Maisher, the female convict who last August made affidavit charging ex-Warden Reed with having had improper relations with her and who declined to testify before the committee in September, was called and testified: "I did not testify before because I did not dare to tell the truth. Warden Reed never had any improper relations with me in the world. He never took any improper liberties with me. Mrs. McNeal, the matron, wanted me to make a statement against Warden Reed. which I at first refused to do." Upon order of the deputy, Westby, Mrs. McNeal put Mary in the dungeon and told her when she would make up her mind to make the statement she would be released. After being confined from Friday night until Sunday morning Mary got down on her knees to the matron asking forgiveness and promised to make the statement if she would let her out. She afterward made the statement under this compulsion.

Killed His Brother While Gunning.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 18.—Francis and George Bishop, brothers, aged 18 and 20 years respectively, residing at 110 South Wolf street this city, went gunning Monday morning on Back river. The boys became separated on the Jackson farm. Shortly afterwards George fired into a copse of bushes at some blackbirds. Hearing a scream, he rushed up and found his brother lying on the ground with the ribs in the left side torn away. The wounded boy died almost instantly. The coroner's jury rendered a verdict of accidental shooting.

Signal Officer Greely's Complaint.

WASHINGTON CITY, Oct. 18.—Chief Signal Officer Greely, in his annual report, says lack of funds consequent upon the failure of the deficiency bill last congress has seriously crippled the office. One of its effects, and that of restrictive legislation together, was that he has been compelled to permit new officers to serve their apprenticesnip in predicting the weather at the expense of the whole country. This has caused the percentage of successful predictions to fall to 73.9, when they should, to have kept up the record, have been 80.9.

Quin Is Likely to Let Her Drop.

WASHINGTON CITY, Oct. 18.—The supreme court rendered a preliminary decision Monday in the case of the murderer Quin Bohanan, of Nebraska, who, pending a hearing of his appeal to this court, escaped jail and is now at large. The court orders that unless Bohanan shall come within the jurisdiction of the lower court by surrender or capture before the end of this term the case shall be dropped from the docket.

A Decision Against Election Fraud.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 18.—The supreme court of Baltimore city, in session Monday afternoon, made a decision adverse to the registers of voters and giving any citizen in city the privilege of petitioning to have a name stricken from the books of registration in any ward or precinct in the city. This decision, the Reform league claims, will take 4,000 illegal names from the books of registration.

Detroit Wins the Fifth Game.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 18.—The St. Louis club played a good game Monday, and made less errors and more hits than the Detroits, but their hits somehow failed to count and the score was 3 to 1, in favor of Detroit, making the League champions the winners of five of the seven games played for the world's championship. Carruthers and Baldwin were the pitchers.

Chicago beat Minneapolis 12 to 7 at Minneapolis, Washington beat Baltimore5 to 2 at the capital city, and Cincinnati beat Cleveland 13 to 8 at Cincinnati.

DRENCHES THE PRESIDENTIAL PARTY AT CHATTANOOGA.

A Ride in the Rain and a Straying Procession—Several Occurrences Not Down in the Programme—Fireworks on Historic Kenesaw—Arrival at Atlanta—The Reception at Nashville.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 18. — Monday morning everybody at Belle Mead farm, including the capital city guests, was astir early, and before 8 o'clock the presidential party were aboard the special en route to Nashville. The train stopped at the fair grounds and the president and his fellow travelers got off, being received by the governor and his guard in brilliant uniforms. After a short stop here to hold a reception for the committees and others a procession was formed and the march to the city began, the route lying through the Vanderbilt university grounds, the pupils of which institution were drawn up to receive the party, which they greeted with hearty cheers.

GOVERNOR TAYLOR.

The procession was constituted as those in other cities, of military and civic organizations, and the route was through the principal streets of the city to the capitol, where the reception ceremonies took place. All Nashville and the country adjacent thereto was massed in the line of march and in the capitol grounds, and the enthusiasm was vociferous and continuous. The reception speeches were made by Gov. Taylor and A. S. Colyer, editor of The American, and the president responded briefly and appropriately. Then the party adjourned to the rotunda, where the public reception was held and thousands of people passed through the lines of military to shake hands with the president. Mrs. Cleveland was not present at this point, she having been driven to the Maxwell house where she held a reception on her own account.

At 12 o'clock the party were again on the special and the train pulled out for Atlanta to the music of a roaring cheer from the thousands assembled.

MIXED UP AT CHATTANOOGA.

Heavy Rains and a Drenched Party—A Stray Parade.

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 18.—The presidential special arrived at Chattanooga about 4:30 p. m. Monday, in a heavy rainstorm. A committee was on hand prepared to escort the party through the city. No objection was made to the storm. The president and Mrs. Cleveland and their guests, excepting Mrs. Vilas, who was indisposed, took carriage and drove for half an hour through the principal thoroughfares. The city was decked out in a profusion of bunting, the headquarters of the N. B. Forrest Confederate post and the Grand Army being the most conspicuous.

The presidential carriage had been trimmed by the ladies of the city for the occasion, and as the decorations would not permit raising of the top, the result was a pretty severe drenching for the executive. Mrs. Cleveland also had to stand her share of rain. Governor Taylor and staff, who had reached the city in advance of the presidential party, were formed in line in carriages to act as the escort to the president and his friends. When the latter were seated the procession moved, but through some miss on the part of the committee management the presidential party became separated from that of the governor, and when the former had returned to the train the latter was probably still at the court house waiting for the president to arrive. Besides the governor and his staff there were upward of 10,000 persons also waiting, and they were probably still waiting when the train drew out of the station, bound for Atlanta. In the confusion Messrs. Bissell and Bryant became entirely separated from the presidential procession, and after the break in the line were following that of Governor Taylor and staff. These gentlemen had quite a novel experience in reaching the train, but they made it in good time and in perfect good humor, notwithstanding they were wet to the skin.

When the special train reached the station Big Shanty a stop of a few minutes was made. Mr. Henry W. McRady, accompanied by Mr. C. A. Collyon, president of the Piedmont exposition, and Judge Henry B. Thompkins, the secretary, boarded the train and paid their respects to the presidential party.

An elaborate display of fireworks were exploded on the top of Kenesaw mountain, at which point the train stopped about fifteen minutes, but owing to the heavy clouds the view was partially cut off from the train.

The special arrived at Atlanta a few minutes before 12 o'clock. There were probably 60,000 people at the station and around the Kimball house where the members of the party are quartered. The greatest enthusiasm ensued, and it was not until Mr. Grady made a speech to the crowd that they dispersed.

Chairworks Closed by the Sheriff.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 18.—The extensive works of the Sheboygan Manufacturing company at Sheboygan, the largest chair manufactory in the state, was closed Monday by the sheriff on executions issued by the United States court. They aggregate $60,000, and are in favor of Watts DeGolyer, of the DeGolyer Varnish company of Chicago. There were 350 regular employes, and as many others who were supplied piecework, and they are all thrown out of employment. The managers say every dollar will be paid.

A Jilted Girl Suicides.

DUBUQUE, Iowa, Oct. 18.—Miss Lizzie Kinton, of Waterloo, a dressmaker, was "jilted" a few days ago by a young man named Louis Ischer. Sunday, Ischer, in company with another girl, drove by Miss Kinton's house several times, with the evident purpose of annoying her. The jilted girl could not repress her feelings and, procuring strychnine, ended her life, dying about 3 o'clock. Public indignation at Ischer runs high. Miss Kinton was regarded as a most worthy young lady.

Failure of a Drug Firm.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—John F. Henry & Co., wholesale druggists, 24 College place, assigned Monday, giving preference only to the National Park bank, and the Importers & Traders' National bank for overdrafts. The firm has has been carrying a heavy indebtedness since their failure in 1878, which was caused by the extensive failure of E. J. Dunning, the note broker. A member of the firm says they will be able to liquidate in full if granted an extension. A meeting of creditors is called for Oct. 28. The failure in 1878 was for $794,000, and their assets were $350,000. They compromised at 37½ cents on the dollar, payments extending over two years.

Opponents of Sunday Saloons.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—A meeting of clergy of various denominations was held Monday afternoon to protest against the attempt to secure legislation permitting the sale of liquor Sunday afternoons and evenings. Rev. R. S. MacArthur called the meeting to order, and Rev. John Hall presided. A letter of sympathy was received from Bishop Potter. Others participating were Rev. R. M. Tyler, Dr. McChesney, Dr. Atterbury, Dr. Lyman Abbott, Dr. Seymour and Dr. Vibbard. The speeches made were to the effect that the German demand for open saloons on Sunday should not be countenanced.

A Troubled Encampment.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—The great international military encampment here is in a bad way. Monday morning the management applied for a receiver and Gen. A. H. Chetlain was appointed by the court. The trouble as explained by the management is that they have no money and some of the creditors are getting scared. In order to prevent suits, executions, etc., that would smash things it was determined to put the affairs into a receiver's hands. Gen. Chetlain declared that the encampment would pay every dollar of its liabilities.

Banker Rawson's Condition.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—At midnight Monday Mr. Rawson, who was shot Sunday by his wife's son, was sleeping quietly. His physicians declare that his general condition had been steadily improving since Sunday night, and that there was some hope of saving his life. No attempts will be made to probe the body wounds until the sufferer gains more strength. While the doctors do not believe any of the intestines have been cut, they consider the wounds in the banker's back extremely dangerous.

Miss Worthington's Body Found.

PEORIA, Ills., Oct. 18.—The search for the remains of Miss Carrie Worthington, who was drowned from the pleasure steamer Lotus, resulted in the discovery of the body Monday night. The unfortunate young woman, before embarking on the fatal trip, took out a life insurance policy in favor of her mother for $3,000.

SANTA FE, N. M., Oct. 18.—Senator Don Cameron passed Sunday in this city and in an interview, speaking of the presidential contest, said he did not think Blaine was any stronger now than he was four years ago, and if nominated by the Republicans he was afraid of another defeat. His preference for the presidency was Senator Allison, of Iowa. He thought Allison and Hawley would make a very strong ticket.

The Impression Seems About Right.

BANGOR, Me., Oct. 18.—Sheriff Stephenson, of Clinton, has been arrested on a charge of murder. His barn had been burned by tramps, and in searching for the guilty parties he entered the almshouse at Carmel, and finding half a dozen tramps sheltering there he at once fired several shots, one of which killed a tramp named Frank Conley. The impression is that the shooting was uncalled for.

Warned to Leave the Country.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—The Tribune prints an interview with A. S. Green, colored, who says he went from Maine to Aberdeen, Miss., to teach in a colored people's school, but was warned by County School Superintendent Thompson that he had better leave. He says a vigilance committee called at his sister's house just after he left, intending to lynch him. Dr. Morehouse, secretary of the American Baptist Home Mission society, assured The Tribune reporter that Green's story was not exaggerated.

THIS is the top of the genuine "Pearl Top" Lamp Chimney, all others similar are imitations.

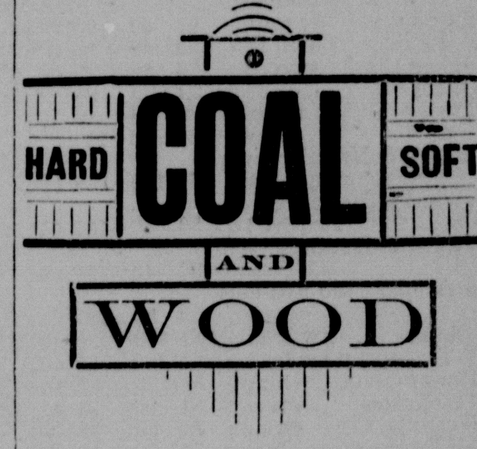

This is the exact label on each one of the Pearl Top Chimeys.

The dealer may say and think he has as good, but he has not.

Insist upon the exact label and top.

A Sunrise on Mount Washington.

As we sat around the glowing coal fire in the office of the Summit house the principal topic of the evening was getting up to see the sun rise. Some intended to stay awake all night to make sure of it; others would doze in a chair; still others would depend on their friends to arouse them. But the proprietor lifted a load from all hearts by saying that at 3:30 a bell would be rung. "Did he say 3:30?" asked an incredulous lady. "Why, the sun doesn't rise until 4:45." "But we're living on a higher plane now," said another, "and there is more sunshine."

The bellringer kept his word, and at the appointed time there was much scrambling and hasty preparation, and soon quite a respectable company, wrapped in shawls and overcoats, were pacing the platform as on a winter morning. A faint red on the horizon told us where to direct our gaze. Bars of thin clouds began to take on more pronounced colors; heralds of the coming light streamed toward the zenith; a thin, low mist, which had shaped its way through the winding valley, became golden. We all stood silent in the excitement of expectation.

Just at 4:10 the spell was broken. "Here it comes!" some one shouted, as a rim of gold came over the horizon's edge, and presently the massive oblong hung suspended before our eyes. But the grandest scenic effects were now behind us. It was a sight beautiful beyond description, as peak after peak caught the light and passed it on. All colors were playing on these hills, from the negative shadow to the richest tints of purple and opaline. Every lake became a surface of silver; the roofs and spires of the surrounding villages glistened. So clear and brilliant a sunrise, we were told, had not been seen this summer.—The Congregationalist.

Absorption of Disease by Porous Wood.

A celebrated physician has remarked that every house ought to be pulled down at the end of its sixtieth year, as it has by that time absorbed all the diseases of all those that have lived in it, believing that wood and plaster absorb gases, foul air and feverish exhalations as readily as milk or water does. But as it is not practicable to tear down houses every half century or so, it is to be considered if all the wood used in their interior construction and all the plain surfaces of plaster should not be so thoroughly oiled or varnished that the power of absorption should be almost entirely destroyed, and the character thus so changed that destruction would no longer be desirable.—Harper's Bazar.

In Brief, and to the Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver is misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existance. It is easily put out of order.

Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember:—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents.
